THE DALTON TRAGEDY.

Sightseers Viewing the Dead Bandits—Emmett Dalton Still Living—Ogee's Career.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 6.—A special to the Star from Coffeyville, Kansas, says: The streets are packed to-day with crowds of excited people attracted by the Dalton tragedy of yesterday. At the city jail lie the four dead bandits. Since morning a procession of sightseers have viewed the dead outlaws. The desperadoes, cold in death, their faces uncovered, seem to possess an attraction for the curious. The stairway leading to the room where Emmett Dalton lies is at all times surrounded by a crowd endeavoring to pass up the stairway to the presence of the wounded man. A Star reporter was allowed to enter the room. Emmett was weak from loss of blood. He said: "I met the boys last Saturday night near Tulsa. They told me of their plan to rob both banks of Coffeyville in one day. Bob said he wanted to lower Jesse James' record. He knew the lay of the land thoroughly. It was agreed that Bob and I should take the First National and the three boys Condon's bank."

Ogee's Antecedents.

TOPEKA, KAN., Oct. 6.—Allie Ogee, the only member of the Dalton gang who escaped at Coffeyville yesterday, was a native of Shawnee county and well known here. He was a son of Mr. John L. Ogee, a citizen of Potawamie county, by his second wife, and consequently a half brother of the large and wealthy Ogee family now living near Silver Lake. He is one-fourth Indian. Considerably inharmonious characterized the life of his parents, and his mother left Ogee a short time before the boy was born. They lived in Topeka and from there moved to Coffeyville, where the boy was raised in the family of Dr. Wood. B. M. Curtis, now police judge of Topeka, and candidate for county attorney, was appointed guardian of the boy. He left here two years ago, then being of age, taking $500, all that remained after the expenses had been paid, and went to the Indian Territory. He seemed to be an orderly, quiet boy, except that he had the Indian characteristic of a roving disposition.

SITUATION AT HOMESTEAD.

Non-Union Workers Concerned Over the Removal of Troops—Strikers Confident.

HOMESTEAD, Pa., Oct. 6.—The borough is uncommonly quiet to-day in most respects and the mill is working as usual. The only excitement is among the non-union workers who are concerned over the proposed removal of troops and the cutting down of the force of deputy sheriffs. This latter is causing the most apprehension and many of the workers inquired to-day from the deputies whether they would have to protect themselves in case of assault. They have been assured that if the troops go the number of deputies will be increased. The militiamen doing duty about the mill yards say that the bosses have always impressed the men with the idea that they would be in great personal danger if they ventured into the borough, and as a result the soldiers are appealed to by the mill workers to remain on duty. The soldiers would rather stay until Saturday, anyhow, for that will complete 90 days of active service, the longest time in the field for any state military organization since the war.

If there was a break in the 35-inch mill yesterday it has been repaired and that department is working as before. Eleven whites and two colored men came up by rail and went to work to-day. The mill management insists that its new men are becoming more valuable; that by a careful process of weeding out, only those who show a desire to become thorough steel workers are kept, and others are gotten rid of as rapidly as possible.

There are no desertions among the locked out men, who are seemingly as confident as ever, and believe it cannot be long before overtures are made to them.

The locating of fifty Pinkerton guns by the detectives is discredited in town. One striker said: "It is nonsense to suppose that the guns have been stacked; they are now scattered over the country, many sold and few left in Homestead to bear witness against possessors. It is safe to say that none of the rifles will be recovered."

Delamater Found Guilty.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 6.—A Chronicle Telegraph, Meadville, Pa., special says the jury in the embezzlement cases against the Delamaters returned a verdict this morning of guilty as to Hon. George Wallace Delamater and not guilty as to the other defendants. The jury stood ten for conviction and two for acquittal upon the first ballot Tuesday night. Mr. Delamater received the verdict without finching. The defense will apply for a new trial and will also question the legality of the act of 1889. The defendant was a state senator for many years and the Republican candidate for governor in 1890, when he was defeated by Robert E. Pattison, the present incumbent. The embezzlement charges were the outgrowth of the failure of the Delamater banking company in December, 1890.

Uniq in Suit.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Oct. 6.—Bryon P. Lockwood, has filed a bill of complaint in the circuit court here. He is attorney for himself. The suit he commences is against the Masonic and Odd Fellows fraternities of this city and the World, and he demands $50,000 damages for injuries he claims to have sustained to character and feelings by reason of having been blackballed several years ago. His bill covers forty pages of closely written legal paper, and he accuses the fraternities of using mysterious and unearthly methods of discovering secrets and says that they hypnotize the applicants for admission to the orders, and otherwise behave in uncanny ways. The suit is by long odds one of the most unique ever filed in a court.

A Naval Nov-ity.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 6.—The two naval ships for which proposals were issued by the navy department last week will contain a new feature in modern naval construction, and which our navy will be the first to adopt. Each vessel will contain three smoke funnels 100 feet high, or higher by thirty to forty feet than any smokestacks on naval or merchant ships, with the exception of the English merchant steamer Scot, which has adopted a high stack. These new stacks, it is thought, will do away with forced draught.

Cigarette Factory Burned.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Kinney Bros. big cigarette factory was destroyed to-day, aggregate loss $250,000. The loss is fully covered by insurance. The fire broke out about 6 o'clock this morning in the basement of the factory where a large quantity of cigarette paper was stored. It spread with great rapidity to the upper stories, and when the firemen arrived they saw it was impossible to save the factory and devoted their efforts to saving the adjoining buildings. Nearly 600 hands, males and females, will be thrown out of employment.

PECK'S CASE

1. Again Adjourned—The Court Unable to Decide Points in Law.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 6.—The Peck case came up in the court of sessions to-day on the demurrer to the indictment found against the labor commissioner for burning important public records. Mr. Peck and his stenographer were present with Mr. Meegan, their counsel. Assistant District Attorney Cohen appeared for the prosecution. Mr. Meegan said the indictment as found was a fraud on the court, and had been so hurriedly prepared that in his opinion it was improperly drawn, in so far as it did not specifically state just what public records Mr. Peck is charged with destroying. The indictment was found on the alleged destruction of certain public records, books, papers and documents, but no specific charge is made of the destruction of the circulars and answers.

This indictment charges that certain papers, termed public records, were destroyed, and it was never intended they should be filed. It is alleged in the indictment that the statistical details which should be embodied in the commissioner's annual report had been destroyed. Mr. Meegan held that according to all authorities the circulars and answers were not statistical detail, but that the term referred solely to the arrangement and combination of the facts contained in the circulars, and answers should not have been filed, and could properly have been destroyed after the compilations had been made by Mr. Peck for his annual report.

Mr. Cohen rose to answer Mr. Meegan, saying the prosecution would attempt to show on the trial that these circulars and answers were public records and had been on file in the labor bureau, when Judge Clute said: "Then I understand the only question you here disagree on is that these circulars were public records?"

Mr. Cohen—"Yes, sir. If you decide that they were not public records then we admit it was no crime to destroy them."

Judge Clute—"I am not prepared to decide such an important question of law on the arguments presented, and shall adjourn the case until the eighteenth."

Received Two Thousand Vols.

SPRINGFIELD, MASS., Oct. 6.—Peter Berthiaume, 35 years of age, a fireman for the United Electric Light company, was shocked to death while making a cut out at the top of a high pole this morning. He grasped both ends of a live wire so that there was no burning except on his hand, but he caught on a pin and for half an hour hung head downward, fifty feet in the air. The aerial fire ladder had to be called out take him down.

The Champion Corn Cutter.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

SIR:—We notice in a recent issue of the Panhandle News of a Brooke county farmer, Mr. Henry Heinsbroth, who cut 150 shocks of corn 8x10 square in ten hours. But West Liberty's hustling worker Eli Johnson outdoes this by far. He cut 126 shocks 8x10, which is equivalent to 158 shocks 8x8. He not only had bad and weedy ground, but weedy corn. He only worked ten hours and says if any man in West Virginia beats this record, he can with very little extra exertion reach close to 200 in the given time. These facts can be substantiated by a number of men.

A Cholera Source.

A reported outbreak of cholera at Holmeida, N. J., created much excitement in that vicinity. Investigation showed that the disease was not cholera, but a violent dysentery, which is almost as severe and dangerous as cholera. Mr. Walter Willard, a prominent merchant of Holmeida, says: "Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has given great satisfaction in the most severe cases of dysentery. It is certainly one of the best things ever made." "Daw

Breadstuffs and Provisions.

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—The pork market got a great lift to-day. It was the leading market on the floor for activity and strength. Grain looked animated, but had a firm tone and closed at nearly the best prices of the day. To-day brought a good many dispatches from the country confirming reports as to the damaging effects of the dry weather on the fall crop of wheat, and these gave the market a strong opening. Several prominent local operators were good buyers, and as there was little for sale, the market advanced. Corn and wheat, and these gave the market a strong opening.
